Social Lit. – Silver	Persepolis
Prompt: Write for three minutes about an	everyday high school occurrence. For example: a conversation you had in the hallway complete your homework, sitting outside with about a test, or anything else that might happer	n inside Great Neck North. Make sure to include sensory detail (sight, sound, smell,	taste, touch), literary devices, and, if necessary, dialogue.

Task:

Create a comic strip made up of 6 panels that contains 5 different camera angles (close up, medium shot, long shot, bird's eye view, and worm's eye view), as well as 3 types of speech bubbles (narration box, speech bubble, and thought bubble).

Scenario:

A comet is hurdling toward earth and unfortunately interrupts an everyday high school occurrence. Use the high school event you wrote about on the back of this sheet. Remember that the art is less important than the utilization of different techniques for a purpose.
